WE NOMINATE

The 340-plus members of The League of Women Voters of The Princeton Community, whose combined volunteer efforts are once again making it possible for the Princeton Area to gain clearer insights into public affairs through a broad-gauged program concerned with "the realities" rather than with the "Cloud 9 aspirations" of assorted political candidates. At the time of year when leaf-smoke, football and politics are in the air, the hard-working Princeton League, rounding out its 29th year of service, is reaching what one observer terms "a peak of activity in its main task: to bring the facts and the voters together."

Over the fortnight ahead, with the aim of providing the citizen with basic information and thereby stimulating voter turn-out on Election Day, the League will sponsor three major Candidates' Meetings (see Topics of the Town and Calendar of the Week) and will distribute free-of-charge throughout Borough and Township the annual Election Information Sheet, year after year "must reading" in 100's of Princeton households. As highly significant, as time-consuming, and as costly as these election-season undertakings are, they represent only one part of the League's overall operations on the local, state and national levels.

Chartered nationally in 1920 with the ratification of the 19th Amendment (Women's Suffrage) to the U.S. Constitution, and the direct descendant of the single-minded National American Woman Suffrage Association, the League from the beginning has been an articulate lobby in the public interest. It is non-partisan. As a past president of the Princeton League stresses, "it takes action in support of, or in opposition to, selected governmental issues; however, it does not support or oppose candidates, nor does it support or oppose political parties." Nor will it permit an officer or Board member to participate "in active party work" while holding a League office!

The local League, one of 87 such organizations in New Jersey, drawing its membership from all segments of the Princeton Community, and functioning efficiently on an annual budget approximating $3,600, has contributed more to the public understanding of government than any combination of Princeton service groups. Its carefully edited series of publications, recently capped by the 6,000 "run" of the third edition of "Know Your Town," includes "Know Your Schools" (1956), the valued, now out-of-print "This Is Mercer County" (1953), and a continuing flow of study-pamphlets, covering a wide variety of topics of import.

Since World War II the League, adhering to a thoughtfully projected program falling into two main categories, "Current Agenda" and "Continuing Responsibilities," has compiled a remarkable record in defining key issues several years in advance of governmental action and, most often, well ahead of pronouncements by aspirants for public office. It was a long decade ago, for instance, that the League helped focus attention on the perennial question of Borough-Township Consolidation; while the League's deeply rooted concern for local recreation, including in part the concept of "Open Spaces," antedated by 9 years the halting development of the first Joint Borough-Township Recreation Advisory Committee.

For looking upon the "inheritance of individual political effectiveness" as a continuing obligation of our democratic society; for seeking to provide "intelligent and unselfish assistance" in areas in which opinions too frequently overshadow facts; for their dedication to the well-being of representative government; these women are TOWN TOPICS' nominees as

LIGHTS, LIGHTS . . . !
McCarter Opens. With a minor traffic jam on University Place, a black tie or two in Row H and the contagious excitement of an opening night, Princeton's first full season has begun this Friday.

McCarter Theatre will open its third year as Princeton University's Center for the Performing Arts with a whimsical production of "Faintsakes" and Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors" and the helting point of an upright piano accompanies the carpenter's song and the woodpecker pantomime.

Inside, simultaneous rehearsals are in progress for several productions. "Faintsakes" and Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors" and the helting point of an upright piano accompanies the carpenter's song and the woodpecker pantomime.

The musical is being worked into shape on the polished plywood floor of the basement rehearsal room by the cast and crew.

Rehearsals have been interspersed with the annual Festival Stage upstairs. (As a matter of fact, it was not until Tuesday of this week, four days before opening night, that "Faintsakes" saw the light of McCarter's stage.)

"Faintsakes" because the "Mediterranean Heritage" series begins on November 10.

For the past two weeks, McCarter Theatre, no longer part of the frenetic stratwalt circuit each summer, has been vibrating with life. From the outside, the big stone and brick

Dressed in the Equity uniform of sneakers, slacks and sweater, the actors move from one rehearsal to the next, often referring to the smell of grease paint than of hot coffee in a paper cup. There is only one actor in "Comedy of Errors," who plays "Faintsakes" and the exercise involved in racing down McCarter's back stairs from stage to basement is enough to keep any actor.

Mr. Conforti appears with a leap from upstairs. "There's a loose smoketube here," Uncle Don says, "but I'm afraid Mr. Director has been reading Drano's part in that magnificently bawdy dialogue which describes the world as it is." "It's split like a globe. I can't find out countries in her," the kind of dialogue that makes an audience wonder about those seven countries.

He leaves Shakespeare's clown behind and is now a young man in love who is becoming disillusioned. "After all, she just isn't next door," he says in an aside.

And so the rehearsals go, all day every day, except Monday.

Props & Tops. In the catacombs of McCarter, behind fire and on the far side of narrow passageways marked "Storage," the brilliant staff works above the mounds of piano, saw and sewing machine, calmly certain that everything will be finished on time.

Mr. Lyon, McCarter producer, directs the "Faintsakes" cast, sometimes doubling as accompanist on the piano. "That's what like reggae had you, know what you're about," sing two fathers whose two progeny who are in love.

Milton Lyon, McCarter producer, directs the "Faintsakes" cast, sometimes doubling as accompanist on the piano. "That's what like reggae had you, know what you're about," sing two fathers whose two progeny who are in love.

In the dusty, high-ceilinged shop, four theatre carpenters work on sets, flats and props. Roy and Jack Evans, carpenters who work the Lambe-Herter-New Hope circuit in summer and McCarter-Trenton winter, discuss the next project. Roy has a big, fat, blue-bottom trunk for "Faintsakes," sanding its plywood with the care he would give to a potential mate.

On the corner stands a bunch of turnips in a big can of water. Those turnips came all the way from Trenton; you can't get turnips with tops on them in Princeton, he says.

TOPICS Of the Town

MANOR APPROVED

For Montgomery Township, Princeton Manor House, the $8 million residential club designed for retired persons, has been approved by Montgomery Township zoning officials. It will be built for 1964 occupancy on site of the Route 206 slightly north of the Wooden Wheel Inn, about six miles north of Princeton.

The property is a 1,340 foot frontage on Route 206 and extends back from the road about one mile. There are 180 acres of land. Plans call for a five-story building featuring modern design to be erected on about two acres of land, set back a quarter of a mile from the highway.

There will be 322 apartments for about 450 residents, according to O. Kline Fulmer, Princeton Mayor. Mr. Fulmer is chairman of the Board of Trustees for Princeton Manor House. Applicants must be 55 years of age or older, but do not have to be retired. Mr. Fulmer pointed out. Applications may be filed at the Manor House main office, 341 Nassau Street, Princeton, where the University is procured on a first-come, first-serve basis.

The Montgomery site was chosen after several others had been considered. For a time a house was discussed as being built to build in Hopewell Township, but zoning problems precluded construction there. Mr. Fulmer said that the site of the Manor House will send more than $100,000 a year into the Montgomery tax office.

Prices of apartments will range from $15,500 to $30,800, and there will be a basic monthly charge of about $140 to $150 per person per person, according to the cost brochure.

The entire project is non-profit and only actual costs will be charged. The monthly charge will include meals, laundry, heating, maintenance, flat laundry, dry cleaning, service and use of recreational facilities.

The investment cost of the life-lease plan was determined by total capital expenditures, including residential apartments, health facilities, dining-room, kitchen and eating areas, sun rooms, lounges, hobby rooms and the grounds development and land cost.

Within the Manor House there will be dining room and kitchen, an auditorium for 400 persons, special family meeting room, beauty shop, a bowling-on-carpet room, 18 double infirmary rooms, and two single rooms, with doctors' offices, therapy, X-ray and consultation rooms and pharmacy.

In addition to a paved walk, drives and landscaping, Manor House plans a golf course of nine par-three holes.

WHITER COLLEGE ROADS
Township Wonders. The University's announcement last week that it was finally ready to move off of College Road onto Washington Road brought real concern to Township Committee.

Plans to stand off the closing date as long as possible, Township police chief James Campbell, Jr., and administrator Joseph R. Nini will meet with the State's construction manager for the University, Committeeman John S. Mount said he thought that 2000 feet of College Road each morning and evening en route to the railroad station, and he suggested that the Borough, in which most of the road would be closed, take the right-of-way. Mr. Mount said a traffic count would be made.

This brought up the question of Franklin Avenue, which Westminster Choir College has said it might like to have vacated once the Borough begins to construct its new school.

"We'll be back," College and Franklin Avenue drive east-west traffic back to Nassau Street," Mr. Mount said.

Round-About Route. When it was suggested that crosstown drivers might go from Washington Road to the railroad station or driving down Washington across to Franklin Road, across it to Alexander and up Alexander to the station, it was pointed out that the "dinky" had come up for the "dinky" had come hands.

"The state objects to that kind of crossing," Mr. Nini commented. "We were surprised when the University got an OK for it."

Mr. Mount and Mayor R. Keith Fairman, who had received a great deal of public discussion because of his University affiliation, then said that eventually the Princeton area would probably probably be abandoned by the Pennsylvania Railroad (it is a losing proposition now, Mayor Fairman pointed out). All contractors would then have to go to Princeton Junction.

Mayor Fairman said that the future light and sound system would go to Princeton Junction along a broad ribbon of road laid in the present "dinky" roadway "one way in the morning, one way at night," he said.

Mr. Mount said he would ask the Planning Board to consider the problem of College Road. Mayor Fairman said that with Borough construction, the Township traffic count on Franklin to the west of Nassau Street, 574 cars counted on that street seven days were coming from and going to.

In his Tuesday morning news conference, Mayor Fairman said, "I protest that the Borough did not plan to protest the closing of College Road. We wanted the Borough to make to make sure that emergency vehicles could get through. He said he thought it was essential that the Township be given the right-of-way to commute. He also said there was no plan to protest the possible elimination of Franklin Avenue.)

Housing Code Considered
In another area of Borough-Township cooperation, Mr. Mount said he and Dr. William Kleinberg, director of the Township Board of Health had sat in with a subcommittee formed by the Borough to discuss a zoning code. It has been hoped that a uniform code could be adopted for both municipalities, although a joint Committee of Maurice F. Hearn, Jr., passed the Borough has rooming-house and a multiple-housing problems not shared by the University.

Mr. Nini told Committee that the Hillside sewer survey was "90 percent complete" and the design would probably be completed by November 1.

In response to questioning by Mayor Elmer Alpert, Assistant Hill Road about the possibility of a water line in that area, Mayor Fairman said that municipal ownership of the water company was a good idea, and something to keep watching, but as taxpayers, I don't think we're prepared for that," he said.

"We're hoping for a Master Plan from the Princeton Water Company," Mayor Fairman said, "and we'll talk with the company about this during the winter. The Township can't be satisfied just with the re-creation of pressure after last spring's trouble—but has got to know what plans are being made for future expansion."

COMMITTEE IS CHOSEN

For Borough School. An 11-member educational advisory committee has been appointed by the Board of Education to work with the Board in the development of plans for the proposed new Education Center. Graham Rohrer, announced the composition of the School Planning Committee this week.

Those who will serve are:

Mr. Allieri was unable to give the police any description of his assailants or their number. He only remembers, he said, that his assailant hit and beaten. His inert form was discovered by Robert Nyquist, a young streetcar driver, who had parked his car in the yard behind Davidson's Market. Everett Campbell of Thorne's Pharmacy called the police.

Police have interviewed a number of people in the area, but none say they saw Mr. Al-liieri being pulled into the alley. Detectives Arthur Galant, Robert McAvilia and Lt. Francis Maguire of the Borough police force are continuing their investigation in cooperation with other police authorities.

Planning Work
Town Planning Sessions. In a series of nine extra meetings, scheduled to end January 9, members of the Township Board will be gathered in a room, gathering around a rolled-up sleeves to work out with their professional consultant the details of planning for Princeton Township.

"We are pulling together the work done by Jack Kendree, our consultant, and our various committees," said Chairman Gerald Breece, chairman of the Planning Board. "Planning is really one large bill of waste removal, which is a space that is linked to land use, and everything affects everything else. After we finished the last project, we may have to go back and revise the first, because of what we've learned in the process."

"Open Space," a road placement, standards of construction and sidewalk placement, land use—all these fall under planning scrutiny, plus housing, zoning, maps, traffic maps, planning objectives and policy, the tax implications inherent in Planning Board activities and capital improvements. There are startling figures of working papers prepared by Mr. Kendree and his back-up staff. "This is, his research," says Mr. Breece. "We feel that there are called 'executive' sessions, when we can roll up our sleeves and try to decide what is the right thing to do—what is essential. Once we get a firm plan, that is, as firm as we can hope for, then we hold all kinds of hearings, so that everyone can express his opinion."

Use Is Important Mr. Breece and his colleagues in the committee regard land use as the basic question, and it is one on which the Board has spent a great deal of time.

"For example, is the return we would get from light industry worth the cost of providing services for it?" Mr. Breece said, commenting on the recent Planning Board report. Light industry may have a hard time here in the Township, competing with Route One. We have a Committee on Economic Development, and they've been investigating and they've had some inquiries. But if a firm can buy land in Roseland with millions of people driving by every year, is it going to settle for a corner of Princeton Township?"

He also referred to the Planning Board's responsibility for trying to make the kind

Temperatures have ranged above average during the first two weeks of October, and the warmer clothing has stayed pretty much in the closet. Last week, for example, most of the low readings were in the 50's and two of the highs were not over 80.

Fair and mild is the prediction for the rest of the week. A chance of rain by Friday, the Man thinks, but doesn't look too bad for it and added that the weekend would be "very pleasant."

of community Township residents want.

"What does the community want?" he asked. "It's not always easy to determine, but we do the best we can."

Fires to Fight? A planning board must walk a careful line between what it calls "fire-fighting" and long-range planning. "Fire-fighting" is the immediate emergency, like the current situation between Bordentown and the over-the border school plans.

"You must not get so wrapped up in emergencies that you lose the long planning view," Mr. Breece observed. He also said that a Planning Board expected facts and sound judgement from its constituents. "It's a good idea to produce what they think you want them to produce," he said, "but we don't go with that. If we do, we'll be foolish. We want a thorough study and his clear recommendation. Then we make a policy, always with the thought that planning is a compromise, and that to some people some times, you're never right!"

WATTS' STORE ROBBED
At Gappolin, Mary Watts' general store on Route 206 was robbed of $30 Sunday night by an armed man.

Shortly before 10:30, the owner told Township police, she was approached by the man, who carried a gun and demanded the contents of her cash register. She emptied the drawer, handing over about $30 in bills and coins. Watts described the robbers as Negroes, approximately 25 years old. She said that after the men left, she took out a window but did not see a car.

BOND ISSUE BACKED
In Lawrence Township, a better than 90% was given a $220,000 school bond issue Tuesday in Lawrence Township. The funds will be used to add eight classrooms to the Benjamin Franklin Elementary School.

The vote was 641 in favor and 270 opposed. The turnout was 1,000, or under 10 percent of the number registered.

Amortization of the bonds over a 15-year period is to start in 1966. The total cost for 1964 will be $21,600, requiring 70 cents more in taxes for every $1,000 of assessed valuation.

MEDICARE TALK SET
Congressman To Speak
Representative Frank Thompson will discuss medical care for the aged on Wednesday, October 24. The Democratic will speak at 8:30 at the Community Park School on Witherspoon Street.

The program, known as Medicare, has caused physicians in Point Pleasant to threaten to refuse payment from the plan. Passage of the bill in the Senate was defeated by a 52-48 vote.

John Hite and James Foley, Democratic candidates for Township Committee, will appear at the meeting to discuss their platform. Open to all, the program is sponsored by the Princeton Democratic Forum.

ROLLER COASTERS HERE

With Lloyd Price. The Coasters, acknowledged by those in the right-wing bracket as a leading rock-and-roll group, will make their Princeton debut in Dillon Gym this Friday at 9 along with Lloyd Price, the singer-bandleader who plans to play along his 15-piece orchestra.

Tickets are on sale at the University Store and McCarter Theatre.

Coasters albums include such hits as "Poison Ivy," "Yakety Yak," "Charlie Brown," "Youngblood" and "Hallelujah." Some of Price's sellers up in the million bracket have been "Stagger Lee," "Personality," "Lawdy Miss Clawdy" and "I'm Gonna Get Married."

Price mastered both piano and trumpet before turning to pop singing, leaving his native New Orleans to capitalize on

Singers Come to Workshops. The chance to sing Cio-Cio-San or Falstaff to a straight man's voice as Falstaff. Man-rica comes rarely to the professional singer in America, and even more rarely to the singer who lives in the Princeton area.

To provide a sounding board for professionals who are restricted by the lack of opportunities in establishing careers in this country, a group of Princeton residents has formed the Princeton Opera Association.

Singers who join the association pay $5 a year for weekly workshop sessions in Puccini, Verdi, Mozart and Gounod, receiving coaching during the course of coaching session for which a New York opera coach would charge about $50 a month. And they have a chance to sing later in a full-scale opera production.

The coach for these Princeton singers is Walter Blazer, an American who is keenly and personally aware of the problems facing American musicians because he sang successfully in opera houses all over the world before he could not gain a foothold in this country. At present, Mr. Blazer is program director of WDHIA-FM in Dover.

Come and Listen. Following the Opera Association's first and only workshop early this fall, 88 singers signed up as workshop members, gathering together at all of them at once — at the Unitarian Church on Cherry Hill Road and Route 206 to sing each Tuesday evening with Verdi, Mozart and Blazer.

For the next four weeks, the public is invited to come to these Tuesday workshops without charge. The Opera association hopes that a lot of non-singing opera buffs who listen in on these workshops will be so delighted and impressed that they will join as "Guid Mme."

borts," paying $2 per person $3 per couple to support the work of the Association. Patrons pay $20, sponsors pay $100.

"To provide a financial back-stop so that we can give these coaching sessions for only $5 a year, we need to broadcast nationally," says Blazer and Dr. Roscoe Williams, dynamic young RCA scientist who helped to found and to launch the group, and one of its presidents. He also shows his members now, including our singers," Dr. Williams continues, "they come from Princeton, Trenton, New Brunswick, Kirk Park, Howell, Lower and Yardley. About one-third of our singers are active professionals: throughout the workshop, they will teach the rest of them their skills and learn opera technique so that they can participate in a major production sometime after January 1."

"Start Small." During the month the opera association was still in the wings, so to speak, Dr. Williams and his friends talked over their project with such diverse musical and theatre experts as William Sondheim, George Abbott, and Milton Lyson, McCarter producer. Following their suggestions, the opera association decided against one mass "go-

I'LL TAKE CORK

Show me your wallpaper. The wallpapers you can buy today are so varied and exciting in texture, color, fabric and design that you're in danger of buying a different paper for each room of the house, just as you won't have to make a choice.

The Etectera Shop, newly opened at 273 Nassau Street, between Chestnut and Moran, not only has papers for you to pore over while you're in the shop, but also has samples for you to actual samples of paper, so that you can go home and hang up the blue to see whether it's the right blue.

Among Etectera's many books, we were particularly impressed with a collection of Spanish cork papers ("Paper de Cork" by Katsenbach and Warren) that would be splendid on a wall, a screen, or even as a mat for a picture. Take a look at the paper. Mr. Katsenbach (for Mr. Warren) has stripped the bark from the tree and mounted a thin sheet of it on a background of red, red, red, aqua, white, gold, silver, black or blue. The color shows through the small, unbroken holes that are characteristic of this cork, giving only a glimmer of color here and there, in a "one-of-a-kind" pattern. ($12 single roll, $13.50 for gold or silver.)

Gene McDonald's handprints will open for you an exuberant world of color and custom design. Take a panel

Or deploy a line of marching geese around a wall, or enclose them in a circle, or have them cross a Chinese red picket fence. You can tie the pig with the button near his nose and see how he gets along with a rooster and some tulips.

Five clown faces—the Gilles, the with-the-charts and the seals, each clown with a different face, would be cheering to look at if you were in bed with sandpaper, red and raw, against white. You could be imagined into all kinds of patterns, if you were drowsing in bed before school. And the last pair is a black leather button job with 15 buttons marching up the side like little black beetles.

All of these creative point-and-click designs are available. All look as uncomfortable as the Dickens. All are, to put it delicately, unflattering. We suspect that gentlemen of the Eton Wards are looked at when they are seen and made superior remarks about the follies of ladies' fashion.

One group of papers can be used for the making of curtains, blinds, valances, etc. They are made of leather, silk, and cotton fabrics that enclose little boys in space and make them look like small marionettes with a benign earth showing in the far distance.

For dinette, kitchen or bath, Etectera has hand-printed vinyl and cloth traditional designs and fine collections of Old Stone Mill decorative prints, all of them taken from authentic old designs.

You will want to look, too, at the printed fabrics that match or coordinate with the wallpaper. Like the blue and green on white, or the blue and yellow kitchen paper against a white ground.

And speaking of beginning, Etectera has three or four-panel screens, ready made but bare. Buy them in the raw, so to speak, and then use them as a collection of theatre programs or children's report cards, or whatever from Etectera Square.

LOOK WHO'S ETON
Size Two. An Eton jacket, size two, is scarcely larger than the pocket of an Eton, size 20, but it is quite as effective. The Little Clothes Line on Palmer Square has produced a line of Gentlemen who like to scoff at ladies' contemporary fashions, might consider themselves upon the pointed toe or the needle heel, and comparing them with grandmothers' ways, might learn a humble lesson by looking at the four pairs of real 100-year-old shoes now in the window of Nasau Street Tree on Palmer Square.

There are three pairs of ladies' "shoes" and a fabric of leather and gold and silver that goes all the way up to here, concealing the well-turned ankles, and mercifully hiding the feet. The third pair is a black leather button job with 15 buttons marching up the side like little black beetles.

All of these creative point-and-click designs are available. All look as uncomfortable as the Dickens. All are, to put it delicately, unflattering. We suspect that gentlemen of the Eton Wards are looked at when they are seen and made superior remarks about the follies of ladies' fashion.

boys' clothes in the Eton manner, sizes 2 to 4, and 3 to 7 regular.

They start off, not with Etons, but with rugged little windbreakers in beige poplin with red flannel lining on blue corduroy with red, $6.50 and $6.95 and defiant against the wind. Made them off with a whimsical ensemble consisting of checked jacket and solid pants and cap. Costs $12 in navy.

With a jacket, a toddler size 3-6 could wear a pair of grey flannel overalls, babbled and strapped. Those are being made now and have been delivered by the time you read this. There are boys' slacks, too, for those who scorn the overall.

The favorite Eton is the red velvet one, size 2-4, with flannel short pants. By this one away for Christmas morning. There is also, for the slightly larger 3-7, a red wool Eton with navy pants and a flannel shirt away. White pearl buttons on all of these.

A red flannel blazer, with shield emblem standing for some kindergartener's sign, probably $9.95 should be worn with any of those slacks we referred to above.

News Of The Theatres

Totally untrained as spies, they have invented the science of cosmic间諜術. They are aided by fiery Elsa Martinelli who at first resents having to feed two extra mouths when there is a scarcity of food. She becomes more cordial when she sees in one of the Americans (either will do) a possible mate for her pregnant sister played by the duplicitous Gabriella Pailotta. A comedy of errors, most of them involving carrier pigeons, follows. Comedy of errors, funny side of wartime spying.

Size 3 knives for boys have one or both sheaths with decorative patterns. One all white with widely-spaced navy and slate grey stripes. Others have flag or boat embroidery. One has navy and red stripes along the handle.

Then, there is the turtle-neck polo, with long sleeves, stylish and subtly fashioned to keep you warm and to help you warm all winter. These come in white or colors. And the wide broadcloth button-down shirts with long sleeves, sizes 2-4 or 3-7 down, every try to button down a two-year-old boy?

GOT A LIGHT?

Watching the "test" film times when just one new lamp won't do, and faced with this situation, we paid a visit the other day to Watchung Lighting on Route 22 in North Plainfield.

What would you say, for example, to light fixtures designed to fit recessed ceiling problems? In home version, of theatre dressing room lights to go all around a vanity mirror, or on two sides of it? Take a look at the bathroom mirror and see how this effect might improve things.

NASSAU PRINTING COMPANY a NEW company devoted to fast accurate service
180 NASSAU STREET - WA 4-3172

There is also an egg-crate kitchen ceiling fixture with wooden frame and mesh top providing a square to enclose either incandescent or fluorescent lights.

Ceiling arrangements from Lightolier, available at Watchung, range from a formal eight-light chandelier with faceted lead crystal drops to opal glass globes mounted singly or in "spreads" of five or more for modern rooms.

Single lamps are here, too, of course, and you'll examine some while you remodel all your ceilings.

USE A PENCIL

No Metal Easel. Hinkson's the other day in search of a 1959 calendar, we came upon the find of the year: 1962. It is a 16x16 six-sided magnet pencil in brass and no gold, designed to stick firmly to your metal desk, and not to wander off to somebody else's desk.

You can also fasten it to the stove, dashboard, handle-bars of a bike, lunchbox, bobbin pin behind the ear, and so on. And so on, with the light catching all those six gold sides. Costs $1, or so — was it 98 cents.

We are positive about Clifit. It does indeed cost 96 cents. You buy it for clipping stories out of the middle of the New York Times, without slitting all the stories on the outside of the page. It's a slim little plow with a minute razor blade that chugs along the column rule and cuts off the clipping neat and tidy.

Keep it (razor side down) in the pencil drum that comes in a pencil drum-note pad set for $2.25. Black with thin gold stripes, or silver, or gold, or blue or red or green, this set is inevitable for your desk. Holds 3x5 note papers for writing down telephone numbers and losing them.

On a more permanent basis, you may prefer a desk memo with a pen and a pencil, designed to imprison all messages in a tear-off pad. Costs in the dollar range.

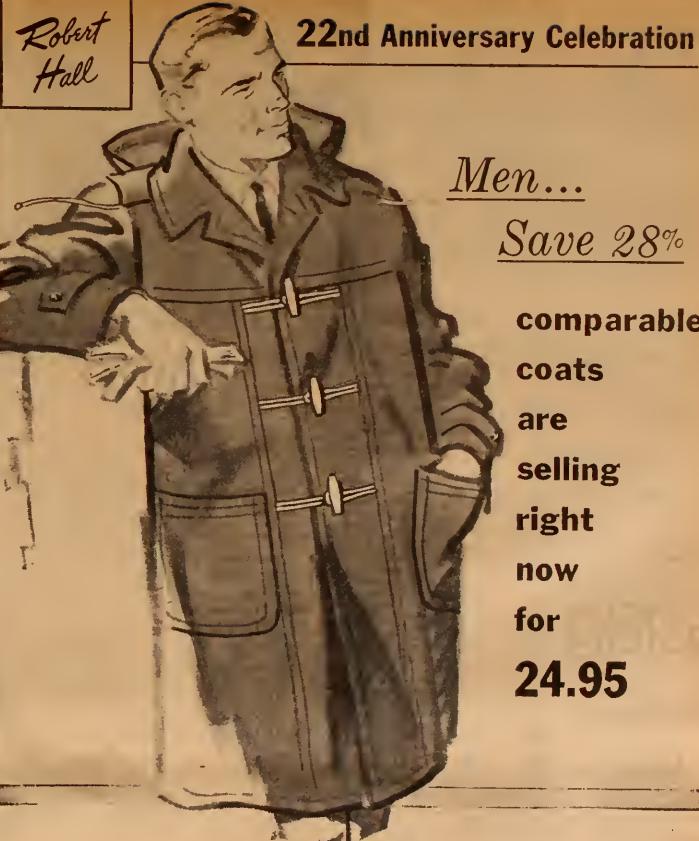

Sheaffer suggests you write it all down in a cartridge case, and then you may buy two boxes of cartridges, and that's a lot of photons. You get pen and cartridge box for each which is a $3.98 value. A 98 cent ballpoint has one cartridge.

About that 1959 calendar — when we found that Hinkson already had the day, month or week, we got rid of the month and the fillers for loose-leaf calendars and the Veri-thin diaries for '63. We changed our mind again, though, and the new model DOWN TOPICS reaches every corner in the Princeton area, and their own figures, no other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

"Facts" For Fifth Graders
Tutor Edges of Town Topics: Ideas often come via the chance remark. Attitudes can be stimulated by the casual statement. So it is with a curious idea that comes to mind from the following from a fifth grade history text currently in use in the Princeton public schools:

"But why is the world so interested in space travel?
One important reason is that some day there will be war in a future war. It is quite likely that space will be used for war purposes. In which case people must be prepared to fight it to defend themselves."

The grim future so bloodily portrayed is so innocently accepted!

Such remarks make subtle preparation for the continued success of one of the most useful human activity. Cannot our texts loudly for the young the greatest practical facets of civilization? How about adults? Can it be that we adults have not yet made this identification?

Rainy Day Note

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The other day had the misfortune to break one of the rugs in my house and almost tried various places along Nassau Street, and asked if there was some shop at the Shopping Center where umbrellas were sold. I am with no luck. No one seemed connected with anyone in New York who could do the job so well. I am still seeking this service.

This seems rather expensive and while there are many people in Princeton who are handicrafters there are also a number who cannot afford a trip to New York. Could I not be connected with someone who might help me find three others seeking the same service? Perhaps you would care to be of assistance?

Asks Citizens To Comment

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I notice that the Zoning Board of Adjustment has approved the application of Palmer Square, Incorporated, to construct a two-story office building on the corner of Palmer Square and Nassau Street and to provide parking spaces for about 170 additional automobiles in the rear.

The deed is done and a new population will be getting to know another set of automobiles and to be without the grass
now on the corner.

Perhaps it would be better
if no one talked about it now.
I have not been in Princeton long enough to see how building permits are issued, but I do not think that the relatively young are not always welcome in family quarrels.

Nevertheless, I would hope the Princeton might avoid the most heart-breaking aspects of rapid change and dis-location. We ought to be good ambassadors and bittersweet in a new spirit of mutual concern for how we are all going to live together peacefully and profitably.

Princetonians are united by the love of their town,
but on occasion they hurt each other terribly.

FESTIVAL PLANS LISTED
Show Opens Nov. 3. Joseph Domjan will be among the artists whose works will be seen at Princeton's Festival of the Arts, scheduled to be held next month. The program, which will begin on November 3 and last through the month, will be given for the benefit of the May Margaret Fine Endowment Fund.

More than 200 Princeton teachers, parents, students and staff will help staff the program. The Festival will be open 10-5 on Saturday, noon-5 Sunday and 5-7 on the remaining two days.
Mr. James J. Conroy, chairman of the festival, has appointed officers of the day to watch the exhibits. They are Mrs.
William Combs, Mrs. Henry
Faison, Miss John F. Gandy,
Mrs. Francis Austin, Mrs.
Douglas MacNeil, Mrs. Nathaniel
Burt, Mrs. Arthur Morgridge, Mrs. Charles H. Hunt,
Mrs. William D.O. Lippscott,
Mrs. Edward Conlio, Mrs.
Douglas Gordon, Mrs. Frederick Lawrence, Mrs. William H. Williams II, Mrs. Marston
Morse, Mrs. Maurice Healy
and Mrs. P. H. Holt.

Varying from the past two years, the show will consist in three parts. Included will be a loan show consisting of works borrowed from Princeton residents; a historical display and an exhibition of contemporary art.

Indian copper, African carvings, Peruvian ceramics and Mexican woven cloth will be among the collections displayed in the latter section.
Mexico, Switzerland and Alaska will be among the other local representations.

Domjan's works, which are presently displayed in 12 countries, have been described as a combination of painting and wood-carving. He has been awarded the Kossuth Prize by his homeland, Hungary, and he is the only non-native to receive such an award.

The whole committee can weigh the evidence. If they have grasped them for straining to make the best out of a fundamental piece of art, then I wish they understood the core issue of consolidation better. I don't blame these gentlemen for worrying about how the Borough Republicans look on the consolidation question.

They tell us that when the two mayors sit down to talk over the question, they will represent the consolidated Republican front. Then they immediately take up the matter again. I would like to suggest that the mayors take this bold
step.

They are publicly committed to the idea of a study of "municipal operations"—an idea that was devised by the Borough Mayor and Council as an alternative to fact-finding study of consolidation. Township Committee voices its opposition to the formation of this Borough response, and to this one, the Committee was absolutely correct.

A loose series of
"municipal operations" is just as far away from consolidation as one can get, unless one gets involved in a few of the knots in our crazy patchwork quilt of Borough-Township relations. This approach to consolidation—because it deliberately avoids the big issue of how the Princeton community will organize itself to deal with its mounting and increasingly serious problems and pending thermo-nuclear war.

The Princeton candidates seem not to have a glimmering of this important distinction. Nor have they grasped the fact

FROM THE HANDS OF ROMAN SOLDIERS: These nails were buried 1900 years ago by the retreating Roman legion stationed near Perth, Scotland. Similar to the nails used at the Crucifixion, they will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Alan Richards to Princeton churches and schools. (Story, this page.)

Oriental to receive the title of "Master of the Color Wood-cut."

HISTORIC NAILS GIVEN

to Churches and Schools

First Century iron nails, buried about 50 years after the death of Christ, have been sent to Mr. and Mrs. Alan Richards of 617, Princeton Kingston Road which will be given to Princeton's churches and schools and a set was present on Monday to the Firestone Library.

According to Mr. Richards, the nails are a part of a hoard found in 1961 by an Oxford University archaeologist.

Mr. Richards said the hoard was dug at the site of a destructive Roman fortress at Inchtuthil, near Perth, Scotland.

It may look like these, the archaeologist reported, must have been used at the crucifixion of Christ.

The fort was built in 83 A.D. as the advance headquarters of Agricola. It contained barracks for 5,500 men,

an administration office, a drill hall, officers' houses, a hospital and a great workshop. The site occupied for only six years, before it was finally abandoned.

The legion garrisoned there was pulled out and sent east between the years 87 and 90 A.D.

The departing legion systematically burned all buildings, destroyed pottery into pieces, cut down trees, the top joint of a man's thumb, and even filled the drains and sewers with gravel.

Transportation Problem.

But they left behind their valuable stock of nails in the work shop, perhaps running the risk of being captured, the

the nails could be melted down and hammered out into weapons by the Caledonians.

The nail hoard was then buried in the ground, the nails into 12 feet deep,

packed six feet of earth on top

and then demolished the removal over the place to re-remove all trace.

After nearly 1,900 years, the archaeologist discovered it when he was digging across the site and noticed a difference in the color and texture of the soil. Digging down, he came upon the rusted remains of a ten year old sword, a fragment of metal which contained countless nails formed a solid sheet. Below it was a further mass of nails, almost unbroken.

Ancient iron had never been discovered before in such quantities. There were over three-quarters of a million nails, ranging in size from two inches to 16 inches. They weighed nearly seven tons.

About 6,000 were good specimens. The nails were sorted and graded by the College of Steel

Institute, The British Steel

and British and American archaeologists. An assortment came to Mr. Richards in memory of Mr. Faile, a former director of Coville.

Who Should Have Them?

Dr. Richard G. Lakin, of the

Princeton Public Library, said

the nails should go to places and people where the dignity of their history would be properly maintained, to be helpful in promotion of the classical story of the Roman Empire—and the most interesting portion of the story which is associated with the crucifixion of Jesus.

In keeping with this idea, Mr. and Mrs. Richards will give one each to St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Princeton, Trinity Episcopal Church, Princeton, First Presbyterian Church, Princeton, Lutheran Church of the Messiah, Chapel, and the Lawrenceville Elementary School.

At the Lawrenceville School, the PTA will hold a "Get Acquainted Night" this Thursday at 6:30 in the school. The program will begin with a covered potluck supper.

The business meeting will begin at 8:15. Mrs. Clifford Egger, the PTA president, will preside. She will outline the PTA program for the coming year, and school objectives will be discussed. Representatives of the Lawerenceville Township Board of Education and members of the school staff will attend.

The social committee will be headed under the direction of Mrs. Frank Ricato. She will be assisted by Mrs. Gertrude Healy, Mrs. Joseph Hensler, Mrs. Margaret Myrick, George Tremble, Mrs. John Lovero, Mrs. Kenneth Huber, Mrs. David Penrose and Mrs. Lee Wiley.

SIX ARE FINED
By Borough Court

Mrs. Elizabeth Ferguson, 34 Patton Avenue, and Bruce A. Olson, 17, 23 Broadripple Drive, were each fined $15 for false inspection violations.

Other offenders included Dr. Theodore T. Tarns, Jr. Both pleaded guilty.

Carl W. Vernon, 25, 214-D High Street, was fined $15 for car tire dragging; Diamantina McGuire, 19, 63 Campbell Hall, Princeton University, was fined $10 for beggar riding; and companion, Christopher J. Schuhfueller, 20, same address, was fined $10 for standing in the roadway. Mrs. Rosalie H. Hart, 37, 51 Clinton New Avenue, was fined $15 "stop" sign violation. She pleaded not guilty.

The criminal court, Frank W. Steegener, of New Brunswick, New Jersey, pleaded guilty to directing offensive and indecent language at Mrs. Theresa Thomas. The violations, clerk, he was fined $50.

BOOKS TO BE REVIEWED

At Jewish Center. Under the joint sponsorship of the Temple Library and the Women's Division of the Jewish Center, the first in a series of monthly book reviews will be held Wednesday evenings.

Refreshments will be served at 8:30 a.m., and the program will begin at 10.

All members of the community are invited to attend and participate in the discussion following the reviews.

Wednesday's subject is "A Child's Eye View of His Parents." The books to be reviewed are Virginia Peterson's "A Mother and a Death," Harry Sonnenfeld's "Gary's Promise," Al Dawn, Mrs. Albert Elias, and Niccolò Tucci's "Before My Time," Mrs. Steven K. Lamm.

Mrs. Margaret Barr of the Library has ordered extra copies of the books for those interested in participating.

Dr. Richard G. Lakin, in charge of the reviews is helped by Mrs. George Goldsmith, and includes Mrs. Marvin Blumenfeld, Mrs. Samuel Lamm, Mrs. Arthur S. Dresner, Mrs. Jacob Dresner, Mrs. Maurice Feldman, Mrs. Herbert Kane.

PROBLEMS CONSOLIDATION

WILL SOLVE BEST FOR YOU

Education

(Many members of both Borough and Township Boards of Education take the justifiable position that the school systems should not consolidate before the municipalities do. Furthermore, governing bodies do not and should not have control over Boards of Education. Therefore, we are only pointing out here the advantages to the school systems of municipal consolidation, which we advocate.)

Do You Realize that...

• Two Boards of Education in one community must do everything twice . . . and some things must be done three times?

For instance, each board makes its decision about curriculum separately, but since students are headed for the same High School, those decisions must be jointly reviewed.

• Although the Township has more students than the Borough in the High School, it has no control over the High School physical plant, its curriculum or its management? As a result, the Township is seriously considering building its own High School. (Similarly, the Borough, with limited space, must rely on the Township for expansion of recreational facilities, over which it may have no control.)

• In many cases students living across the road from a school are not allowed to cross the artificial municipal boundary line to go there?

• By planning to build next to the Westminster Choir College the Borough Board of Education is prepared to go it alone? And by so doing it will create traffic problems in the Township which its Master Plan never contemplated.

What Consolidation Will Do For Our Schools

Municipal consolidation will provide the framework within which one Board of Education can handle with complete authority all problems of public education in Princeton. We are candidates pledged to provide that one Board of Education the power and the responsibility to handle educational problems of one community . . . solve them efficiently, have decisions administered without duplication of effort, and achieve high standards of excellence.

Consolidation can be achieved without loss of jobs or status by people in Borough and Township educational systems, police forces, fire departments or in local government employment. Consolidation can be accomplished without creating unfair tax burdens, because the law (Title 40, Chapter 43, Section 66.6) permits setting differential rates, based upon existing debts.

MUSIC In Princeton

FUCHS DUO HEARD

In McCarter Recital Series of the Princeton Symphony, the Brahms Duo began on Monday evening with a concert at McCarter Theatre by the violinist Joseph Fuchs, his sister, the violinist Gillian Fuchs, and the pianist Arthur Balsam. Their program consisted of sonatas by Brahms ("F major" for violin and piano), and Beethoven's "Kreutzer," for violin and piano, and Bohuslav Martinů's "Three Madrigals" for soprano and piano.

The later works, which are dedicated to Joseph and Gillian Fuchs, were more polished, with their voices showing the textural and coloristic possibilities of the string duo medium, primarily in the movements, where the composer seems intent upon capturing the regions which extend from Brahms' "slow and wavy" Sarabande and beyond, are somewhat less satisfactory. The present performers made most pleasant impressions, though the work, however, and it would be hard to imagine a better performance; clean, solid tone, firm attack, and excellent attack, combining technical virtuosity, made for the most satisfactory execution of the evening.

Unfortunately, the two sonatas failed to give complete pleasure, although for different reasons. The Brahms seemed confined by some kind of restraint and stiffness, so that it never got off the ground. The musical problems of the Brahms are here exemplified by the fact that this sonata was originally conceived for clarinet, with the violin offered as an alternative instrument, and the balance and phrasing turn out differently on the two instruments—generally to the disadvantage of the violin.

Mr. Balsam, attempting to compensate for some of these difficulties, held the piano part down to a minimum, while it was unable to provide the necessary rhythmic and dynamic impetus. One doesn't want to suggest that violin and piano are not well matched, or that there aren't enough viola sonatas to go around as it is, but they probably ought to have had a good deal of time listening to performances on the clarinet before they undertake the job.

If Mr. Balsam's restraint seemed overdone in the Brahms, he struck just the right note in the Beethoven, especially his comparison with Mr. Fuchs, who is inclined to be somewhat more extravagant than his sister. Particularly in the slow movement of the "Kreutzer" Sonata, the violinist's many "expressive" mannerisms stood in unfortunate contrast to the more formal and lyrical playing of the same phrase by the pianist. The articulation of the theme's opening phrase is a task which requires a great deal of business at best, but Mr. Fuchs smothered it with vibrato, and at one point got decent accents entirely back wards.

Also disturbing were some matters of movement in the movement's second subject, which Balsam kept strictly in time, only to be answered by a more expansive version in the field. This tendency, coupled with Mr. Fuchs' elimination to rush groups of smaller note values, could only have a deleterious effect on the coherence of the performance.

There was, however, a good deal more vim and vigor than in the Brahms, and the outer movements, at least, came within a fair distance of the right idea, and Mr. Balsam must be commended for both, technically and musically. It should also be reported with a sense of relief that in the slow movement were taken a procedure essential to preserving the correct proportions.

MONDAY is the last day on which new classified advertising may be inserted until 5 p.m. Tuesday.

MISS BEA BARDSEEE TO SING
With Symphony. Bethany Bardseee, whose ability to interpret contemporary music has brought her wide acclaim, will sing with the Princeton Symphony when the orchestra gives the first concert of its 12th season Monday, October 29, in McCarter Hall.

In a departure from her usual role as a singer of contemporary music, the solo will sing Bach's "Wedding Cantata" and the Cavatina from Rossini's "Barber of Seville."

The orchestra's program will include Stravinsky's Concerto in D, String and Bassoon, concerto in E flat Major for oboe, clarinet, horn and bassoon.

Last year, Miss Bardseee's performance of Mr. Brahms' Double Concerto and Prokofieff's one of the events of the New York musical season. Next Thursday, she will be the soloist in the opening of a new set to be given in Carnegie Recital Hall under the sponsorship of the group that was responsible for saving the Hall from demolition.

Miss Bardseee has received a Ford Foundation Award for "Performing Solists in Recital," and her contribution to contemporary music, and she has used this award to commission from Mr. Balsam a piece which will首演 next season at the Lincoln Center Recital Hall. Tickets are available at the University Store.

QUARTET TO PLAY

In Seminary Auditorium. The Stringart Quartet will give a chamber music concert Wednesday, October 24, at the Seminary Auditorium of Princeton Theological Seminary. The concert marks the opening of the Sesquicentennial Arts Series, and will begin at 8:45.

Free tickets are available through the office of the Rev. Mr. Roy L. Gandy, General Director, at WA 1-8205.

The program will include Haydn's String Quartet in D Major ("The Lark"), Beethoven's "Razumovsky" in C Major and Schubert's String Quartet in A Minor.

Members of the group, who are artists-in-residence at the Seminary, are Veda Reynolds, violin, Irvin Eisenberg, violin; Alan Igltzin, viola; and Charles Brendel, cello. The Stringart Quartet founded the Philadelphia "Coffee Concerts" in 1950, and the "Contemporary Chamber Music Society" in Philadelphia in 1958. Received the C. Hartman Kahn award "for ability and enterprise of such character as to enhance the standards and reputation of the Philadelphia Orchestra."

Future concerts in the series will be given by Arthur Brumley, pianist, on October 19; and Samson Routhes, harpsichordist, and Tucky Ramus, folk singer, on June 5. Discussion of the programs by the artists will be part of each concert.

The music series is part of the Seminary's arts festival, which includes a number of dramatic, three- and other musical events, and the commission of two anthems, one from Roger Sessions and the other from Richard Yardumian.

VIOLINIST TO PERFORM

With Pianist. Vincent Reale, Princeton senior who is president of the Princeton University Orchestra, will be heard in a violin recital Sunday, October 20, at 3 p.m. McCarter Hall. He will be joined by David Garver, pianist.

For their program, Mr. Reale and Mr. Garver have chosen Vivaldi's Sonatas in A Major; Mozart's Violin Concerto No. 3; Brahms' Sonata in D minor, Opus 108; Bach's Sonata No. 1 in G minor for unaccompanied violin and Wieniawski's Polonaise Brillante No. 2.

Mr. Reale, who is a pupil of Joseph Fuchs, has studied the violin since he was five years old. At the age of 9, he was accepted into the Juilliard School and has studied with him for ten years. Dear Travelers:

Now that I've had my first passport picture taken at the office here, I'm off again on another "trip"! I think I'll go to Colombia. I'll jet right down and stay in Bogota a few days, and then go over to Cali, where we'll climb to the top of Belalazar Hill where we can look at the whole Cauca Valley in its frame of the Andes Mountains. What a magnificent view! I'm breathless just thinking about it.

The town of Cali is delightful. Quite romantic and charming with its spotless streets and buildings, its flowers and open air cafes. The river running through the middle of town and the vaqueros riding right into town all make it one of the places I'd like to visit the most!

As ever,

Nancy

Why I Plan to Vote Republican

By Kevin Kennedy

John Green and Carl Schaefer are the two best qualified men to serve on Township Committee.

John Green, a long-time Princeton resident, will be the only lawyer on the Township Committee, a valuable asset indeed considering the ever-growing complexity of our municipal operation, and its increasing importance in Mercer County and the State. John has also had extensive business experience, and will bring to the Committee a businessman's keen sense of ethics and efficiency. John's background includes furthermore continuous and conscientious service on the Township Board of Assessors, acquainting him intimately with the Board's problems and responsibilities. Lastly, John has always brought a perceptive interest and astute approach to every issue concerning Princeton Township as evidenced by his regular attendance of meetings of the Township Committee, the Township Planning Board and the Township Zoning Board of Adjustment. His familiarity with the various powers, areas of jurisdiction and the responsibilities of these Boards could not be any more complete.

Carl Schaefer has been a life-long resident of Princeton, and he has seen it grow from a town of less than 10,000 people in 1930 to over 21,000 residents today. Carl is also a very successful local businessman, and will bring business skills to the operation of the Township.

As a businessman, he is naturally in constant contact with the general public, therefore every single day. Thus, Carl will combine his sure native feel for the pulse of the Township with a continuing assessment of the various problems and operations as tried and tested through his daily contacts with so many of his fellow citizens. Carl has further excellent qualifications for Township Committee through his various community service such as the Princeton United Community Fund, the Hillcrest Civic Association and as an Elder of the Second Presbyterian Church.

From the above, it is readily seen that both of these men have proven ability and outstanding dedication and interest in the community and that they are bringing outstanding and valuable qualifications to their service on Township Committee. In his platform published as early as May of this year, is expressive of his approach to the assessment of Township operations and problems, and includes recommendations for progress and action as follows:

1. Develop a plan of Township sewer program.

2. Develop Community Gardens for recreation as soon as feasible.

3. Redouble efforts to have the State construct Route 206-A between Princeton and Rocky Hill.

4. Complete an early study of areas of joint operation between Borough and Township, leading to conclusive action on merger when all the facts are known.

5. Carry out recommendations of Open Space Committee.

6. Acquisition of joint library site and building as soon as practicable, long endorsed and sponsored by Township Republicans.

7. Maintain and strictly enforce Township Zoning Ordinance.

8. Carry forward Township Master Plan.

These two men have widely divergent backgrounds and can be expected to differ with each other on their own committments on particular

Democratic

By John R. Yost Jr.

Last spring I had occasion to leave the country for an extended period of time. When I left, Township Committee was discussing dogs. When I returned some time later, they were discussing dogs. Apparently both they and the public were aroused by the subject.

Somehow this seems allegorical to me. Where else in the world is it so easy to discuss Red China, nuclear testing, or refugees in Hong Kong, and yet difficult to (publicly) discuss a subject like consolidation. We Princetonians consider ourselves sophisticated, educated, concerned. Yet we permit our egos and ancient attitudes so to dominate our good sense that two school systems that go to great lengths to plan and board do not know what each other is doing, and we reach the ridiculous situation where one school board makes plans outside their "community" without even consulting the affected parties.

This is perhaps a long way of getting to the point, which is that penitentially the responsibility for such confusion must rest with the governing political bodies. Their task is not an enviable one for it surely would be difficult at best to stir our learned constituency to local action—political action as proposed to new dog laws. But since we need somebody must, if we are to preserve those qualities of Princeton which everyone wants to preserve, and do it more effectively.

Unfortunately, of course, it is for the voters to decide and to bear the responsibility. That is why I believe that now, the proper time for some serious introspection as to whether we should continue to return to office yet after a group of men who, whatever their good qualities, have certainly failed to perform the primary task of representing and protecting leadership on issues crucial to the development of Princeton. There have been precious few times when a group of Township Committee members made a public gesture outside Committee meeting to arouse, inform, or lead the public. I'm not implying that the task was not there, or that the Township can do a better job. I can't see how the issues that are of real importance to both municipalities can be resolved other than to publicly expose the ways, the means, the facts, and the superstitions.

Unfortunately, we have had every opportunity to do something about this situation. They have controlled and dominated the various governmental committees for 150 years. Actually, this is the first time in probably twice in the history of the Township has a Democrat been elected to Township Committee, and over the years appointments to various boards have routinely gone to Republicans.

This has always seemed strange to me, particularly when one considers, for example, a planning board. One would think that a mixture of political viewpoints here could be only beneficial, but actually welcome. But such is apparently not the case.

Summing up, then, I am less than satisfied with the progress being made on the substantial issues which confront our community. Both the Republicans are completely responsible for this lack of progress, and therefore have no trouble deciding who is to blame. Dick Miller, Jim Hite and Jim Foley for Township Committee. This would be true if they were just ordinary candidates, which of course they are not.

They have both been keen students of the local scene, and have demonstrated in their

SILENT SPRING?
Not in Princeton. High on the list of alarm bells, "Silent Spring," has made even non-bird-watchers in Princeton (and there are a few) anxious. The return of the red-eyed robin is a promise that excessive use of insect sprays will indeed decimate the bird population and make Princeton's springs "silent" and without the songs of birds?

As any Princeton nature-lover knows, however, there is one real "bird man" in town and he is Charles Rogers, Princeton class of 1906, curator of the Princeton Museum of Zoology.

"There hasn't been so much damage in Princeton," Mr. Rogers says. "General broad-spectrum spraying is certainly devastating, but we haven't had trouble here since one year ago a few years ago. I forgot it, but when people were bringing me dead birds one right after another. The trouble that year was that there was no place for my courses opening for their sprayers and the DDT simply screamed down the tree-trunks and formed puddles which the birds drank, and they died."

Since that year, however, Rogers has seen many dead birds in great numbers, and it is necessary that spraying is necessary for such crops as apples, tobacco and potatoes.

A sharp-eyed, sharp-witted man who prides over an aerie on the third floor of Guyot Hall, Mr. Rogers has been in his curator post since common here." Mr. Rogers 1920, having arrived there by predicts. "Like most birds, it is increasing its range."

The mockingbird is another one that is venturing into outer space. Seen occasionally in Princeton gardens in the summer, it has now become a constant summer resident here, and is spreading northward all along the line.

Perhaps the most dramatic invader of Princeton—or, at least, visitor—is the cattle egret, a heron native to the Iberian peninsula, Africa and Asia. Starting its world-wide tour over half a century ago, probably by means of a hitchhiking boat ride across the seas, the cattle egret was first observed this July in full adult plumage, surveying the possibilities at Barker-Gordon.

Getting back to silent spring—Mr. Rogers, who naturally knows the value of insects and he suggests, with Miss Carson that the best way to fight insects might be to let them eat each other, another species that feeds on the undesirable one, or a disease that will wipe out an unwanted species like the house sparrow.

Over the years in Princeton—and Mr. Rogers was a freshman when Lake Carnegie was "built"—the bird man has seen many entomological changes here, and not all of them due to insects.

Ducks Ahead. The backwaters of Princeton streams and waterways have provided homes for the wood-duck, now on the increase here since spring. "It's a wacky bird," Mr. Rogers says. "We rarely used to see gulls in the open fields," he recalls, "now there are lots of them and you'll see them 100-200 at a time."

The house finch, a completely western bird, is now exploring all around, and has been here for a year, from where apparently arriving in the east through the medium of a pet store. "Eventually, it will be

"It will probably come again," Mr. Rogers believes "and may even nest here and get to be quite common as a summer visitor. And starlings! Haven't come from nothing since 1905."

But there have been losses. "Meadow and field birds have decreased," Mr. Rogers points out. "because meadows and fields have decreased, meadow larks, bobolinks, Henslow sparrows, upland pectorals used to be common around Princeton."

Ornithologists thinning out, partly because they have been hunted, although great horned owls are still about.

"Somebody brought me a barn owl he had shot, and I said 'You ought to be ashamed of yourself for shooting it!' Barn owls are great hunters, you know. People shoot birds of prey too much; the hawk has struck it badly from hunters who ought to know better."

Another fairly common Princeton bird used to be the Acadian flycatcher, resident of the woods along river-bottoms. Mr. Rogers found a nest

CAN A GIRL BE THE POPPER IN popping the question?
 No, says Miss Ruth Ann Borosko (left) and Miss Shirley Merritt, who agree it is still nice to hear—even though you know it's coming. The men aren't wholly convinced, however.

Question of the Week

Question: In your opinion, is there anything wrong with the girl doing the proposing?

Where asked: Around town.

Miss Ruth Ann Borosko, Princeton Junction, bookkeeper, D. Van Nostrand Co.: Yes. I think it takes all the fun out of it. It would be better when you're surprised, though you know it's coming.

Miss Shirley Merritt, Princeton Junction, secretary, D. Van Nostrand Co.: Sure. You want to be able to hear what they say and how they work up to it. Even if he is going to prefer me, I'd rather he thought it rather than have me do it.

Marie Ruth Ann Morrissey, 202, owner of Nassau Shoe Tree: Not at all. If it is a $50 deal, which they say it is, why shouldn't she have a chance? She has every right to protect her interests; if she knows a man whom she likes and would want to marry, why shouldn't she be allowed to do this? I think it's a good idea. The standard seems to be the accepted thing. It used to be a man's single standard, but that's not true any more. Many women vote, drink, drive, we pants—they lead the men pretty much around by the nose.

Miss Calbie Sittig, 158 Mountain Avenue, student Miss Fine's School: Yes, there is. I think the girl does it to feel guilty the rest of her life. She's been very forward; she'll wonder in the rest of her life, you know what they are thinking but they just don't say it. There's a lot more to it than just asking the question.

Miss Diane Berkman, Harrington, bookkeeper, First National Bank: No. I don't. Sometimes they go to town so bad that she should ask just to keep it from going on and on. A girl should be able to ask to find out if he ever considered proposing if she hadn't asked him. Even though they may be very much in love, she should wait. If she's right, he'll ask. Patience is a virtue.

Miss Hattie Busselle, 87 Lovers Lane, social worker: I think it depends largely on the circumstances. If a man is too reserved or unassuming to think a woman would be interested enough in him to marry him, he will feel it is perfectly all right for a woman to suggest marriage.

Robert Chandross, 80 Alexander Street, graduate student, economics: I don't see anything wrong with it. Women are surely becoming more equal in society. If they want an equal position with males, and since this is such a vital matter of life and death, in a particular situation, then I think she should do the proposing.

Mrs. Doris Britton, Highway 27, bookkeeper, First National Bank: No. I don't. Sometimes they just give you the ring and say, "Here" and they don't say anything else. They expect the girl to take it from them.

Leon McEvoy, Morrisville, Pa., metallurgist for Johnson & Johnson: Yes, if I were the man, I should take the initiative. If a man doesn't take the initiative in proposing, surely the girl will take the initiative in everything else after they've married.

Street, Trenton, garageman for Turney Motors: Actually, I don't think so. If you've been engaged for a long time, I don't see where it matters who does the proposing. But if two people have known each other only for a short while, I think the man should do the proposing.

Miss Sidney Combs, Route 1, Princeton, housewife: Yes, I think in proposing it is the proper role for the man to do the asking. I guess I'm just old-fashioned, but I prefer the old-fashioned way.

Douglas Hall, Pine Hall, University senior: I think it depends on the circumstances. She has every right to protect her interests; if she knows a man whom she likes and would want to marry, why shouldn't she be allowed to do this? I think it's a good idea. The standard seems to be the accepted thing. It used to be a man's single standard, but that's not true any more. Many women vote, drink, drive, we pants—they lead the men pretty much around by the nose.

Miss Judy Nelson, 22-23 Marchmont St., registered nurse: No, not at all. I don't think she should come right out and ask, but a lot depends on the boy. Lots of times, people you know don't know what they are thinking but they just don't say it. There's a lot more to it than just asking the question.

Miss Diane Berkman, Harrington, bookkeeper, First National Bank: No. I don't. Sometimes they go to town so bad that she should ask just to keep it from going on and on. A girl should be able to ask to find out if he ever considered proposing if she hadn't asked him. Even though they may be very much in love, she should wait. If she's right, he'll ask. Patience is a virtue.

Miss Patricia Morris, Dover Del., Rider College freshman: Yes, because the man is supposed to be the head of the home that is supposed to initiate the initiative in proposing. If he's really in love, he won't be too shy to ask a girl. By the time she is ready to marry, he would know her well enough.

Miss Peggy Baich, Rochester, N.Y., Rider College freshman: Yes, because he is going to be the head of the family and it is his place to put the woman in position to do it. He's got to take all the major steps first, including marriage.

YWCA PLANS FESTIVAL

On International Theme. November 16, 17 and 18 are the dates set for the YWCA's International Festival. The two co-chairs are Mrs. Paul T. Battell, Jr. and Mrs. Leonard F. Newton. Volunteers are needed for the festival and those wishing to help should call Mrs. Howard Waxwood, Jr., executive director, at WA 4-4822.

Many booths, representing different countries or areas throughout the world, will be available, offering gifts and food. Proceeds will benefit the World Fellowship Fund.

The hours on Friday, November 16, will be from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m., with the official opening ceremony scheduled for Saturday morning. There will be a tea on Sunday.

Other details will be available at the YWCA. Committee members are: Mrs. John Hughes, booths; Mrs. Eugene Hinckel and Mrs. John Reid, exhibits; Mrs. Kenneth D. McDonald, decorations; Mrs. C. E. Lambert and Mrs. Harold S. Willis, Sunday Tea.

CONVICTION REVERSED

For Mrs. Elaine Kendall, Mercer County Judge Ralph Fusco has reversed the decision of Dr. John Magistrate James S. Hill concerning the case of Mrs. Elaine C. Kendall, 65 Heather Lane.

Mrs. Kendall was issued a summons July 20 for failing to yield right of way. She was waiting Harrison Street from Valley Road, when her car was hit broadside by an automobile driven by Mrs. Beverly Beck, 58 Scott Avenue, Princeton Junction. The summons for failing to observe the stop sign was issued by Patrolman Anthony M. Pinelli of Princeton Township.

According to attorney for Mrs. Kendall, established facts were no witness to her failure to stop before proceeding into Harrison Street. Magistrate Hill had amended the complaint to give her a yield-right-of-way at an intersection.

In a lengthy comment, Judge Fusco observed, "It's always disturbing to a court when police officers come in and say defendant and, after seeing nothing, issue summonses." He added, "Once a car in a stop street hits another car, it interferes with safety, the traffic on the through street must stop."

Miss Beck's testimony revealed that she was travelling at exactly 25 miles an hour because

TEN LOSE LICENSES

For Speeding. Points. Eight area residents have had their driver's licenses revoked under the state's point system and the 60/70 excessive speed programs.

Lenwood J. Thomas, 78 Lincoln Avenue, and John P. Clemons, 43-45 West Main Street, both of them licensed for 50 days following conviction for speeding in Pennsylvania under the Pennsylvania-New Jersey reciprocity agreement.

Driving privileges were revoked under the point system for Ralph J. Belford, Jr., 28, Burn Hill Road, Somerton, and Andrew J. Hiltner, Jr., 20, 141 South Street, Hightstown, two months.

Those losing their licenses under the 60/70 program for the first time are Elizabeth A. Biddle, 24, 131 Broad Street, Edinburgh; Dr. Henry T. Head, president of the Ford Foundation, discussed the importance of giving engineering an equal place in his university in this talk.

The Quadrangle cost $8 million, which was raised in part by the sale of bonds. Facilities for graduate education and research were doubled over those previously available.

Six connected units, with a total of 280,000 square feet, provide 25 classrooms, 120 laboratories, 125 offices, a 4400-seat auditorium, and a 220-seat cafeteria.

The Quadrangle will be raised in price to $10 million. The Nassau School of Dance will be the only school in Princeton devoted solely to dance.

POTTS TO READ

At Princeton. Two poets who are members of the Princeton faculty will read from their works on October 22 at Male's Book Shop in the 22nd Street section of Princeton. The shop hopes it will turn out to be a series—of evening poetry reading sessions.

The series will be given on Monday, October 22, at 10 p.m. in the book shop, located at the corner of Nassau and Broad Streets. There is no admission charge, but there will be a series of evening poetry reading sessions.

Michael Goldman and Keith Anderson are the poets. Mr. Goldman, a background of work at Columbia, Cambridge and Princeton, is an instructor in the English department at Princeton and in the "New Yorker," "Poetry" and "Kenyon Review," among other publications.

Mr. Anderson is in the philosophy department as an instructor. Educated at Macaulay College and Oxford, he has had his poems published in the "American Humanities Review," "Prairie Schooner" and "South and West."

The shop hopes that townspeople will come to hear in poetry, and perhaps a few poets themselves, will turn out for the evening session.

ASK THE CANDIDATES

At Meeting Tuesday, Candidates for Congress and Freeholder will speak Tuesday at 8:15 at Community Park School under auspices of the League of Women Voters.

Each will discuss a topic submitted by the League, and will then be questioned from the floor. Mrs. Mary Shawchild will be the moderator.

The Congressional candidates, Frank Thompson, Jr., Dennis E. Edwards, Tom Murphy, and John L. Smith, will be given the opportunity to give their views on United States foreign policy relating to regional alliances and the United Nations.

The question is phrased, "Present eminent spokesmen have suggested that the United States place more emphasis on regional and military, but economic, alliances. How far do they have not excluded continuing support of the United Nations. How can we determine if foreign affairs through our regional alliances and when to channel them through the United Nations?"

County Problems. The two Democratic incumbents, Richard J. Coffee and Arthur R. Syrek, and the Republican, Mrs. Regna H. Merlewood and Anna H. Holldoener, will be asked to name the two most pressing problems in Mercer County and to give their suggestions for solving them.

Timkeeper for the meeting will be Mrs. William F. Hayes, Jr., with Mrs. G. T. Treves, Mrs. C. Curtis Jr. and Mrs. Tom E. Scott acting as hostesses. Mrs. Sidney Liebeck, Jr., is chairman of the planning committee and Mrs. Willard Macie is director of visitors service.

Other speakers Saturday morning for Princeton offices will appear Monday, October 29, at Community Park School at 8:15, and Lawrence Township voters will question their candidates at 8:15 at Lawrence Junior High School.

"Issues in New Jersey Elections" will be the subject of the League's second radio program in the series "Viewpoint" this Sunday at 4:35 over WTM. Participants will be Mrs. Elizabeth Melvin, Mrs. Elizabeth Wherry of Trenton, and Mrs. Melvin Gottlieb. Mrs. Cary Peebles will be the moderator.

Mr. Melvin Gottlieb, for mayor of the Borough, will take the Democratic side, with Miss Wherry, secretary to Senator Clifford Case and former Senator Alexander Smith, speaking as a Republican. Mrs. Gottlieb is director of regional planning for the League.

SENIOR PROBLEMS: TOPIC AT PTA'S Parents' Meeting

Parents of seniors at Princeton High School are invited to meet with the school administration Wednesday, October 24, at 8, for a discussion of current and post-graduate problems.

The discussion-and-a-half session will be devoted to study habits (the number of hours to be allocated to specific assignments), etc., the Guidance Department, standards of behavior and forms of discipline, social events, and developments in course of study (Advanced Placement, mathematics, English, etc.).

Aspects of the post-graduation plans of the students will be college, armed services, job opportunities, and financing of education beyond high school.

The meeting is sponsored by the High School PTA. Refreshments will be served.

MRS. CAHN CHAIRMAN OF PTA Book Fair. Mrs. Harvey D. Cahn, chairman of the Valley Road-Community Park PTA Book Fair, which will be held the week of November 10-17. It will be open 8:30 to 10:30 Tuesday through Friday of that week in the Community Park Library.

Details on a special program, scheduled for Wednesday, November 11, at Community Park, will be announced at a later date.

Books will be supplied by Male's Book Shop, and will also be available for purchase. The proceeds from sales at both places will go to the Princeton High School Scholarship Fund.

GRAPHIC ARTS IN SHOW

At Gallery 100, "Contemporary American Prints" is the title of Gallery 100's current exhibition which will run until November 10 at 100 Nassau Street. Works by such artists as Ben Shahn, Abbott R.

Schwartz, Jacob Landau and Benton Spruance are included. The graphic techniques range from woodcuts to lithographs, and the styles run from realism to extreme abstraction. Following the exhibition, Gallery 100 will have available a wide selection of prints for those who wish to buy or just browse.

In commenting on the renaissance in print-making in this country, Gallery 100 points out that original art may be obtained at moderate prices and that prints are not fakes.

A print is an original work, it adds, and is not to be mistaken for a reproduction.

After the artist has made and signed the print, he then decides how many will be made (sometimes 25, sometimes 100), and following the printing, the plates may be destroyed.

1000 WORDS A MINUTE!

It's easy to read this fast—and faster, when you use the ACCELERATED READING technique. This new and remarkable method of reading teaches you to read directly down the page instead of across the lines.

And, you can read almost any kind of material this way—novels, textbooks, history, business correspondence, magazine articles and newspapers. MOST graduates of the ACCELERATED READING course read faster than 1000 words a minute. MANY can learn to read 2 to 6 times as fast as you do now—with no loss in comprehension or enjoyment. ACCELERATED READING enables you to read much more in the time you have available or to have more time available by finishing your reading quickly and effectively.

A course in ACCELERATED READING will be taught in Princeton this fall. Enrollments are now being accepted for the class beginning November 1. The course will be 10 weeks long with one 2½ hour class session each week. The course is open to townspeople, faculty and students.

PRINCETON'S OPEN CESSPOOL

Princeton's main trunk sewer opens into Lake Carnegie at four (4) separate points—and at another point into the Stony Brook area. These so-called "by-passes" are 5-10 inch open pipes connected directly to the main sewer; they still millions of gallons of raw sewage into the Lake whenever the trunk fills to capacity.

- After the sewer scandals of last winter and spring—the Sewer Operating Committee (Borough)—University announced in April that it would increase the pumping capacity from 6 million gallons per day to 10 million.
- At the same time, in the Riverdale area, the S.O.C. casually opened a 600 foot by-pass into Lake Carnegie. In early Summer, the Township Committee was pushing the construction of the unwanted and unnecessary Great Road Sewer—at an estimated cost of $300,000.00!
- In late Summer, the Township Committee reluctantly authorized the survey of the needed and necessary sewer in Hillside Avenue, an area where the drinking-water wells have been contaminated by septic tanks.

BUT NOTHING HAS YET BEEN DONE.

- Why has the Township Committee not forced the Sewer Operating Committee to act?
- Will the Hillside Avenue sewer be pushed to a speedy completion?
- Why has the Township Committee not pressed the repair and modernization of the present system and at the same time has pressed for construction of the unnecessary Great Road Sewer?

SOME QUESTIONS:

- Why has the Township Committee not forced the Sewer Operating Committee to act?
- Will the Hillside Avenue sewer be pushed to a speedy completion?
- Why has the Township Committee not pressed the repair and modernization of the present system and at the same time has pressed for construction of the unnecessary Great Road Sewer?

BUSINESS In Princeton

SUMMER QUARTER ENDS

In Business Calendar, while business analysts everywhere were seeing their third quarter figures and finding them "mixed," Princeton found itself in the same general position. The figures for the July-August-September quarter came to a final tally.

As they were at the end of the same quarter in 1961, the bank figures were solidly on the plus side; checking accounts had been down 3.5 percent in the January-February-March quarter.

New car sales, that backbone of the economy, were down 24 percent from the spring quarter, as they had been down 27 percent in the spring quarter of the previous year. People just don't buy cars heavily in the summer.

Compared to last year, sales are up 1.5 percent, but last year's sales were down 8 percent compared to 1960. Perhaps the automobile dealers can take some heart from the fact that the decline is two percent less than it was in the previous year.

The tight vacant-lot situation in the Borough shows up dramatically in the 200 percent increase in new housing starts over the last quarter. What is the meaning of this astounding jump? In the same period during quarter three, there were no new housing starts in the summer quarter, there were none.

Business Township was back in business this quarter with an 86 percent increase in new housing starts, having dropped back 32 percent from the winter quarter to the spring quarter.

How Much? In the value of buildings, both the Township and Borough reflect, as they so frequently do, the building and maintenance plans of the University. For example, the Township has a 10 percent increase over last year, 27 percent over last year, and 115 percent over the spring figure.

There are two answers to this. One answer is that the Township has installed half a million dollars worth of boilers—$575,830, to be precise—and helped to build its own township's building permit figure.

The second answer is school construction. In September, officials of the new Sacred Heart School, located on the building permit figure for their $1,327,000 expansion project on the Great Road, and lifted the building permit figure to its indicated height.

Welfare percentages sharply up for the year, and moderately up for the quarter, do not actually reflect an alarmingly economic picture for the Borough. As the figure indicates, Summer quarter figures are higher than they used to be because fewer families are paying for their domestic help and the summer months there are not needed. These people then apply for welfare assistance until their employers take them on again in the fall.

Also, according to Mrs. John J. Ahrens, Borough welfare officer, the department is getting more chronic cases than before; alcoholics, for example, who are not counted on the rolls month after month while the agency helps them with their problems. There are also many over-pay cases waiting for social security or disability payments to be initiated, and who need welfare help to live, not to mention other. And agencies such as Family Service and the welfare office of Princeton Hospital are sending more referrals to the welfare department, Mrs. Ahrens reports.

QUAKER FLANK TURNED: Pete Porietis (45) skirts Pennsylvania end with host of tacklers in pursuit. Tiger tailback gained 16 yards on this second-quarter play on Philadelphia's Franklin Field.

SPORTS In Princeton

TIGERS NEED "COMEBACK"
After Poor Game At Penn
It is a football rarity when a team romps to three touchdowns in less than 12 minutes of play, and Princeton responds with nearly the entire second half on the defensive while its followers anxiously wait for the clock to run.

The Tigers improved last week at Philadelphia, where Princeton all but backed in to a 21-8 victory over Penn. Memories of the mistake-laden, punting-prone 48-0 loss of the game may drive the Tigers to a better performance when they take on Colgate Saturday at 2 in Palmer Stadium.

A look at the last eight games in this series, played consecutively since 1954, when Colgate agreed to give up spring practice in return for a place on the Princeton schedule, shows clearly that the Tigers were at least three times as good as their opponents that Orange and Brown teams have failed to gain the upper hand (three defeats and a 6-6 tie), they managed no more than a lone touchdown last year, they were blanked 13-0.

Not only have Princeton elevens in the past decade been somewhat inconsistent on defense, but in the cases of Princeton, a non-league for no intensive work is done in preparation for the visitors' parades. The theory is to push the offense and plan to beat them in a high-scoring game.

Some Success Achieved. At least half the time, this policy has paid off—Princeton won in 1956, 28-20, from 1958-60 prevailed in game-and-take battles. A year ago, however, the Tigers spent two mid-october weeks searching for their offense, only to follow a 21-point triumph over Penn with the 15-0 shutout at Colgate's hands. Both game were played on muddy fields.

Colgate has improved slowly this fall with a 1-2 record. Coach Hal Lahar's return (after departure four years ago for the University of Houston) was marked by a surprising 6-2 loss to a weak B.C. eleven.

After bouncing back to upset Cornell, 23-12, the Red Raiders last week were beaten by Rutgers, 27-13, as the Scarlet attack netted 406 yards. Graduate coach Bill Howard at the middle of Cornell's squad, and depth is lacking at the guard and linebacker-slots.

On home to begin, Princeton took an early lead with captain Dan Keating whose faking on handoffs and rollouts and accurate passing earned the last victory. A well-balanced Colgate team went on to achieve major success in defeating each member of the Big Three on successive Saturdays.

Jim Heilmann and Jim Deegan are backfield veterans who will be one of the keys along with Keating. Neither tops 180 on the scales, but their running ability blends with Keating's quarterbacking in a manner which will keep Princeton busy on defense.

It is up front where Colgate figures to be the first to score. In the opening game, Princeton's visitors did not rate as the likely winners—until Princeton played somewhat more aggressively, shelving the lackluster brand of football it displayed for the last three periods against Pennsylvania.

LETTDOWN WASN'T COSTLY
But Tigers Really Coasted.
It may not be any Princeton football team has ever been so thoroughly outplayed for three quarters—as the Tigers did Saturday at Penn. And won by two touchdowns, in sharply reversing the trend of the contest, a Quaker eleven,

Outscored the Tigers in first downs, 15 to 11, after having failed to make one against Dartmouth.

Ran and passed with considerably ease against the best 11 players Princeton could field, when the second half opened, rolling 78 yards in 16 plays for a touchdown.

Dominated action during almost all of the final two periods and needing only 14 points to score an astounding upset, Harvard retained the initiative almost until the clock ran out.

What Happened? In all probability, it was a combination of a man-eating of over-confidence generated by three rapid-fire touchdowns, and loss of momentum through early whole-body collisions which took all of the Tigers' teeth. You have to go back to the unbeaten season of parallel '50 and '51 to find a team parallel to Princeton scoring a greater total than Princeton posed on the board in less than 12 minutes of action.

The purified atmosphere was just too heady, and the resultant let-down was as depressing from the Princeton point of view as the opening surge had been exhilarating. The only difference was that it lasted 48 minutes—four times as long as the surge that started the game.

A fumble by fullback Bill Merlini at the Penn 42 halted the Princeton first drive. The three plays later, Bill Howard, the big left-end, batted a Penn pass in the air and Merlini grabbed it, running the ball down the field before he was tackled. Greg Riley cut nine yards across the wide side and Princeton had its first TD at 14.

The second score came four minutes later, Captain Dan Terpock climaxing a 55-yard march by scampering the final Lessons Learned. Gradually, though, the two sides made a development hastened by an insertion into the game early in the second period of players third and even fourth on the bench. The first and second units sat on the bench, and when they re-entered the second half, their timing, momentum and cohesion were gone.

Penn scored the first time it got the ball, and by some trick or larking and play coverage on the Tigers' part. Efforts to retake were twice nullified by fumbles. Few Porielis' runs over one yard from the goal line were called for clipping; a second jaunt into the end zone, only to be stopped by a fumble, was offside. At that juncture, the team that once had a 21-point lead after 12 minutes seemed destined for a thinning margin, but missed on the five-yard line.

Neither team came within 40 yards of scoring during the final half, but Penn was forever seeking to hit on long passes. Good ballhanding helped keep the losers in check; in all, the Tigers picked off five Penn serials for their best interception mark in some years.

The sharp downward trend of the Tigers' fortunes, worried because it had never reversed itself in the first three periods, left Princeton with a number of problems that may well prove troublesome throughout the season. Among them:

• Dave Goulin, who handles the place-kicking assign-when he was sidelined with an ankle fracture sustained against Yale.

better than six yards over three seasons and uses the pass-option play to advantage. Last year he accounted for four or seven yards of them for touchdowns, and others for valuable two-point conversions.

Football today is increasingly a big man's game, and the Blue and White's 6'4 record holder, Ewing, has done well over 200 pounds and backs who don't top 180 are considered light. Terpack is 10 inches tall, 6 feet 2 inches, and is the smallest player on the Princeton team, and yet he's the captain. There is no better proof of his combined ability as player and team leader.

ment, has yet to kick a field goal this season. His latest effort was well off target from the 13-yard line.

Pete Porielis, the leading passer for season with a completion percentage of 57%, is markedly off form this fall, overshooting many of his targets. He has had pains in his shoulder on the running pass-option play, a major threat in single wing football effectively used.

• Both Dan Terpack and Jim Ewing have chronic leg injuries which give increasing evidence of weakening the solid depth that appeared to exist with both.

Timing on the attack remains poor with a third of the season gone. The Tigers had half a dozen calls against them for back to the outside in the running procedure, the latter usually a lineman pulling out to block before the ball is snapped, and one of the penalties cost a touchdown.

It is probable, of course, that the lesson of attempting to coast on a presumably big lead will have been learned, and that something good will closer to 60 minutes of good football will be forthcoming in the future. This was achieved against Cornell and Columbia, and there is reason to believe that both these teams are better than Penn. If the Blue and White can play crisp football, it can handle Colgate without undue difficulty. It cannot, however, afford to drop one eye on its upcoming Ivy League game with Cornell.

EWING IS FAST

But PHS Has the Defense. Princeton High School's football team revealed a rock hard, impenetrable defense against Trenton on Saturday. The question to be answered on Sunday is whether it will be able to contain the speed and depth of the Ewing Blue Devils.

If the Little Tigers are to salvage some glory out of the current season, the time has come for the question to be answered in the affirmative. Their season is half over now and following a heart-breaking loss, play 3-0 defeat by Trenton, they yet to win, they will try again for the fifth game on Saturday at 2 on Ewing's field.

It is safe to say that Ewing will prove to be as tough a hurdle as Princeton High's first four opponents. In contrast to doesn't seem so," said Wood. "After they got settled down in the locker room, they indicated that they wanted to go out and get even. They didn't think we'll let down." Wood added, "I think we'll continue to improve."

"Of course, they were bitterly disappointed, though. They had been thinking about the game from the beginning of the season. They even had signs up on the wall in the middle of September. They had been building up for the game all week and gave a good performance. We're improved a little more and we're going to be awfully tough from here on out."

Had the second half of the Trenton game been a duplicate of the first half, it would have been remembered only for its dullness. As it was, it built up in suspense throughout the remaining quarters, culminating in a seal-gripping final 45 seconds which seemed to last 45 minutes. It was a g-a-m-e in which the recordless Princetonians four times had been unable to capitalize in a single time. It was a game in which 145 yards in penalties were called against both teams. And then there was that 27-yard field goal with one second remaining.

The first half was a stand-off. It was dominated by the long, gressive line play of both teams. The Tornado line averaged over 200 pounds per man, according to Wood. Against the Little Tigers, the total of 12 yards rushing. "We could have run against it if we could have passed a little more," said Wood, "but when they saw we couldn't pass, they brought their corner linebackers up within a yard of the line, giving them a nine-man line. Their backs were within five yards of the line of scrimmage. We couldn't run against that."

Britton Adds Strength. The Blue and White line was just as effective. The return of 204-lb. Jack Britton at tackle helped considerably. "There was no doubt that Jack made a big difference," said Wood. "The kids just like the feeling of knowing that in there, Britton paired with 224-lb. Jim McKeever, the other tackle, to anchor the line."

The ebb and flow continued into the fourth period. After the four-quarter mark, the leaders made their deepest penetration of the day to the THS 22. It was set up as Len Samawoso recovered a Princeton punt for the fourth time on the Tornado 36. Fullback Dick

TOO HIGH IN THE SKY: One of four PHS passes that went awry on Saturday against Trenton is the one which came in the third quarter. The injured receiver is Brian Smithy and Eric Davis (22) the defender. Fullback Bill Aiken overthrew the attempted aerial. (Staff Photo)

Aiken carried for a first down in unbelieving home town fans to the 22 and cried of "Hold that line" when he heard for the first time a 13-yard penalty and a fumbled kickoff killed the drive.

After an exchange of punts, Princeton started from the 34. Three plays netted two yards. On a fourth and eight situation, Tim Masicz threw a screen pass to Dick Botts for a first down on the 46. Only 45 seconds remained.

Penalties Hurt. Two passes were broken up by PHS defenders but, on the second aerial attempt, the Tornadoes' line was deemed of causing the passer. The penalty must have been a factor as Botts drove the ball to the 38. Then an incredulous run by Randy Fryar in winged foot reversal, his first several times running with each "zag," finally ended up on the 32 for a six-yard advance. Four seconds left.

Botts drove up the middle on 7 to the 23. En route, his pass was broken up by an automatic 15-yard penalty carry. Botts then dropped back to the PHS 17 and kicked a 27-yard field goal.

The kick was high and from an angle, but the sidearm it was intended to tell it was off, but it was. And it was true that PHS had been defeated in the final second, although the stunned Little Tigers, the erstwhile Dick Wood, and the coach were still in the game. "It was a tremendous PHS season with three injuries, none serious. Fullback Ed Mueller, who played an outstanding game defensively and on offense came in and out of two Trenton games in succession for losses, was cut on the nose. Jay Davidson, a center, was sliced on the hand, and tackle Alan Abelson sustained an ankle twist."

Coach Wood cited the play

CAN HUN BREAK JINKX?

In Test With Tower Hill? If football contests were only three quarters in duration, the Hun School would be undefeated. As it is, Hun will oppose Tower Hill here on Saturday at 3 p.m. Still looking for its first victory.

In its first three outings this season, the Red and Black has carried a lead into the last period only to lose it by a final whistle. Instead of 3-0, its record is 0-2-1. This fourth-period jinx continued Saturday afternoon at G. E. in Newark. Friends came from behind with less than four minutes to play to upend a favored Red and Black squad, 6-2.

Hun coach Hawley Waterman reported that he "didn't know much" about Tower Hill and admitted he had not been able to scout the Wilmington, Del., school. "Generally, they are very good and well-coached," he said.

Each team has a strong incentive to win Saturday. Hun wants that first victory. Coach Bob DeGroot says Tower Hill should be an even matchup by Hun last year in front of the Wilmington followers. Hun's 14-12 victory marked the first time the two schools had beaten Tower Hill and the first time the losers had been defeated on their home gridiron.

Waterman revealed he had talked by telephone to DeGroot to find out that his team "no longer has the horses to win." The Hun coach was a 40-6 win over Phillips Academy of Andover, Mass., last week.) "I don't know anything about horses," Waterman commented. "I just hope we can do something and win."

First Half Scoreless. Against Germantown, Hun dominated the play throughout the first half, but he had all the statistics—and all the penalties—"lamented Waterman. "They didn't get one."

On three occasions Hun was inside the Quaker 20 but failed to score. "We did all kinds of stupid things, things an experienced team just doesn't do," Waterman added.

In the third period, Hun scored his only points when Louie Kaplan broke through and blocked a Quaker punt. The ball rolled out of the end zone and Hun, which recovered it received only a two-point safety.

Using a modified two-platoon system, improvised by Waterman, the visitors made the most of their lead. With the afternoon heat becoming a factor, Waterman attempted to conserve the strength of his reserves by limiting the number on defense and the variety only on offense. "Those 'little shavers' stopped them cold," said Waterman.

Crucial Play Goes. With less than four minutes to play, the home team—led by a 60-yard run by John Morrison—began a long march. The turning point came on a crucial third and eight situation. The Quaker quarterback, who had been trapped behind the line but he eluded his would-be tackler and ran for the first down.

Two long passes carried

Germann into the Hun three from where Phil Schulze bucked over on his first try. With less than 90 seconds to go, Morrison's pass to Ed Soller dropped in, 20 to the visitors' 33 before time ran out. Ed Soller scampered 35 yards in the last-ditch march.

HARRIES FACE PEDDIE. Seek Fourth Win. The undefeated Lawrencleville football team will be seeking its fourth victory Saturday when it travels in Hightstown for a 2:30 game against Peddie. The Lawrences defeated Phillips Academy of Andover, Mass., last Saturday.

The Red and Black moved 85 yards in seven plays for its first touchdown, which came in the second quarter. After a short break from the field, Todd Orval passed to Mike San Phillip on fourth down from the five yard line for the score.

The second Lawrenceville scoring drive, which came in the third period, covered 82 yards in six plays. John Bohm drove over the center of the line from four yards out for the touchdown. Laird Bussey ran for the two-point conversion.

Andover struck back in the last quarter with quarterback Jack Kline making a 20-yard run and halfback Dan Hootstein the receiving. The visitors went on a TD drive that covered 57 yards in 11 plays. Hootstein crossed the goal on a two-yard run.

Andover blocked a Lawrenceville punt at the winners' 30-yard line with a minute to go. Morrison, who had been stymied, moved the ball to the 12. Morrison's pass attempt on the last play of the game fell incomplete.

BURG CLUB PLAYS

Heads For League Season.

The Princeton Rugby Club will face the Baltimore Rugby Club on Saturday at 1 p.m. at Princeton High School. The road will field two teams, and the second game will be at 11:30.

Both rugger teams opened their fall campaign last Saturday with a victory over Columbia in New York, 3-0. At the same time, the "B" team, comprising Freshmen, Training Team, and the "C" team started the season.

The fall season is a preliminary to league play, which will start in the spring.

The club has scheduled "A" and "B" games on Friday, November 2, against Dartmouth; Saturday, November 3, against Harvard; and Saturday, November 17, against Villanova. All these are home games.

The club has commenced practice of experiments given to the rugby team, which is not officially sanctioned by the University. The team won eight games last year, losing only to Princeton, Amherst, and Middlebury. This season marks the 32nd year of rugby football at Princeton.

Nicklaus Six Under Par

Putting over the two-year old Pine Brook Country Club at Belle Mead Sunday, U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus shot a 66 in an exhibition golf match staged for the benefit of the Somerset County Heart Fund. Some 2,500 spectators were present at 1962's biggest money tournament, bettered by six strokes.

Wes Ellis of Mountain Ridge, New Jersey State champion, and John Bohm, which included seven birdies, Nicklaus and Al Boehm, Raritan Valley Country Club champion, defeated Bill Anderson, another top amateur, 2 and 1.

Nicklaus, another power golfer, shot a 68 in his first competition since the day after Thanksgiving. He followed a booming drive with a five iron to reach the green on the 468-yard 10th, and was only a few strokes short of driving the 17th—293 yards slightly uphill.

Wilson, each 16.0 and pre-

Bill Rodefeld swept his three games and advanced to the third position on his own game behind the leaders. Bill Bathie recorded the league's high game, 222, and high series, 700, to win his three games and move into tie for fourth with Guido Zinnett, a game out of first.

In "A" League action, Grover won its lead over Avonoro Construction to six points. Cooper and Schaefer, with 14 points, failed to win a game and dropped eight points.

Dick Fowler rolled the high individual game of 221 and the high series of 573 to lead Avonoro Construction—gaining team honors with a total of 2627 pins. Jack Stachowitz bowled a 209 for the league's only other 200 game.

Jugtown, led by Baldino's 632 series, held onto first place in the "B" League. Kinnelon won its share of three games and Campos Taxi swept three to narrow the leaders' margin to two points.

In the new-formed Princeton Hilltoppers, 11 to 10, Lagas, the Giant Bears and 49ers each won three games to share the pack. The Packers, Eagles and Vikings each had a draw—the 10th, 11th and 12th games.

REPORT FROM RUSSIA
Soviet View of Religion. "To the Communist, religion is a hangover." That is what we ran across most was the claim that science has disproved the existence of God. "Religion is a superstition," they say. The Communists didn't find any angels!

Dr. Charles West was talking last week about his recent tour of the U.S.S.R. as a member of the National Council of Churches delegation. The author of "Communism and the Orthodox Church" and other books, Dr. West at 41, has served behind the Iron Curtain in China and East Germany. He is also a former professor of Christian Ethics at the Princeton Theological Seminary.

"There is vigorous anti-religion propaganda in Russia, and a flood of anti-church literature," he said. "The remarkable thing is the great staying power of the Christian churches—most especially the Orthodox."

There is a question in my mind as to whether Russia is more truly represented through communist propaganda or by the continuing power and depth of the Orthodox church. It is in conflict with herself in these two different worlds."

Dr. West commented that only 50,000 Bibles have been printed since the Revolution. This equates to one Bible for every 5100 persons. "The communists regard this as an adequate, he said, his eyes bright behind the glasses. "They say, 'religious beliefs have declined so in Russia that we must print only 50,000.'"

According to Dr. West, a church which cannot support its minister, or its priests or rabbi, is closed. The Government expects that the Church will gradually fade out in this way.

"We asked to see a synagogue in Odessa—it had been a strong Jewish center. It was a big, rather barren building. The rabbi told us it was the only one left in town. We didn't know how long the Jewish community was; we guessed 60,000 to 80,000. Now all the religious leaders give very precise figures for their own safety." On special holidays the devout overflowed into the courtyard and street. I heard that there were three, there used to be four or five synagogues in Odessa. Before the revolution there used to be 60."

Dr. West observed that all churches and synagogues are operating under difficult circumstances. "Undoubtedly, the communists would say that religion is a remnant of the pre-communist way of thinking which will gradually die out as social conditions improve in the Soviet Union."

He was asked if the communists regarded religion as parasitic. "No, said religion is a subtle satisfaction for people which takes them away from the task of improving social conditions. In non-communist countries, they say that religion is the opium of the people—the narcotic which dulls the pain of existence and takes away the will to revolt."

"Recently, the trade unions have been enlisted to help spread the official atheist propaganda," Dr. West added. "The church congregations are now primarily women. The pressure is on them."

Women have more freedom of choice in this matter. Certainly, you cannot be a Christian and a Party member."

In Russia there is no theological discussion to reach the average church goer. "In countries dominated by the Roman Catholic Church, there is a lively weighing of these matters. The Orthodox leaders hesitate to raise questions. They do not like to do so under present limitations. But the Orthodox liturgy contains so much . . . it tells the full story of the Christian faith."

The Church has no right of religious propagation, Dr. West commented. It is also limited-circulation publications. The Church's strength lies in its liturgy, which you can hear on the street and hear the Orthodox liturgy, there is a feeling of coming into communion with the strength of the ages."

Sports in Princeton

Individual sessions have been added to regular YMCA sports. Interested in forming league teams have been asked to contact Walter Sorg at the Y or Fred Tylor at RCA Labs.

READY, WRESTLER!
YMCA To Form Team

YANKEE FIGHTERS, the local school wrestling team will be formed at the end of the football season by the Princeton YMCA. The team, which includes the wrestling club which meets at the V building on Avalon place and is enrolling new members.

To qualify boys must be between 11 and 19 and weigh between 182 and 200 pounds. Boys weighing more than 125 must be at least 13 years old to qualify for outside competition. Additional information may be obtained from the Y office.

ANOTHER "FIRST"

Mount Royal, Princeton, Resident of the Shady Brook Apartments achieved a Princeton "first" Saturday when they staged a victory rally over their foot course, which eyewitnesses defined as "a surprisingly large crowd."

Winner Harry Schroder of the Shady Brook team (from 4:15-6 horsepower) was promptly elected honorary mayor of Shady Brook. His political affiliation was not given. The large number of votes he received may have been traceable to the fact that he was the host at the victory party following the event.

Schrader was clocked by timekeeper Edward Jeffries in 1:03 fast. Following were the Rev. Tom Evans, 1:12.5; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Egger and Hank Munson, whose times were faster than the winner but who were disqualified for points because they had announced no plans for a post-race party.

The Class B event, for women, was won by the Rev. Tom Evans in 1:12.5. Following were Everett Campbell, masquerading as Barney Oldfield, Bud Lytle and Millie Holt. Art Case served as promoter, and Kees Bol, treasurer.

Topics Of The Town

length included Kathleen Lening, Nancy Priory, Betsy Steck, Pattie Stock, Linda Sherrill, Debbie Fowl, Anna Capp, Diane Riedel, Angelica Priester, Melissa Wilkinson, Susan Anderson and Marrian Carr. They were assisted in turn by leaders of Troop 1.

OFFICERS ELECTED

HOSPITAL Auxiliary, Princeton Hospital's Women's Auxiliary has elected its officers for the coming year. At a recent meeting, in which the election was held, the organization also discussed its fund-raising efforts.

Re-elected to office for a second year were Mrs. Marshall H. Dana, president; Mrs. Bernice L. Smith, first vice-president; Mr. Richard Peterson, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert N. Smyth, treasurer; and Mrs. David B. Miller, assistant treasurer; and Mr. Alvin Custer, Jr. Mrs. Edward Green and Mrs. David B. Miller were elected members-at-large.

ASSORTED POTENTIAL BUYS:

1. Rugged individualists or fanatics finicky about privacy, take note! This contemporary house in the woods (fine area) has just been REDUCED FOR QUICK SALE to $42,500. Pine boards & battens . . . flagstone & white-washed brick . . . railroad ties & white gravel . . . glass walls & dogwood — get the feel of it? It's fast, easily expandable and the land alone is worth a good $20,000!

2. Once overpriced because of decorating needed (wiring, piping, etc. are good), this basically lovely OLD COLONIAL home is being sold FORBIDDEN DEAL that could almost be called a bargain. Five bedrooms, 4 baths, 4 fireplaces (one in the master b.r.), old floorboards, large barn, 5 acres (more available), estate area — at $40,000 for all this what's a little decorating!

3. For people to whom space, schooling and budget are important, here is a 3 year old, 4 bdrm. split in a neighboring community with excellent schooling that might be a steal. (Owner transferred, must sell, etc.) Modern kitchen, rec. rm., good condition, LARGE ASSIGNABLE G.I. MORTGAGE. Asking $24,500. Lower offer based on quick closing might take.

Should you live in an apartment?

Maybe you're one of those people who wouldn't be caught dead living in a house. You like the busy, compact life that goes with an apartment. You're a born apartment dweller and there's no sense in fighting your natural instincts.

But if you like the privacy of an individual dwelling, a haven from the daily pressures which beset us all, you should seriously consider owning your own home. Especially if yours is a growing family.

Consider the advantages. You'll be raising your family in an environment which affords them plenty of room to play...and to grow. Plenty of room for quiet moments or lively games which don't intrude on adult activities. Plus the safety provided only by a private back yard.

Financially, home ownership makes good sense too. By substituting stable monthly mortgage payments for monthly rent payments, you protect yourself against the ever-increasing cost of living and against inflation. As a home owner, you get important income tax advantages not available to apartment dwellers. And a home furnishes the cornerstone in building an estate for your financial independence. When the mortgage is paid up, you have a tangible asset of real worth instead of a pile of worthless rent receipts.

...or a house?

Makes sense? Home ownership is even more sensible at Village on the Green. Here is a community set in one of New Jersey's most desirable locations. Every village-style home has extra-large, extra-wide lots of closet space, well-planned layouts...all on a half-acre plot with a spacious back yard. And everything is so convenient. Boating and fishing, golf, one-session schools, houses of worship and diversified shopping are only minutes away.

If you are now living in, or considering, a two or three bedroom apartment, chances are you're paying for all the advantages of Village on the Green. Why not live there and actually get them?
